CIVICAL UP-TO-DAY

During these months, the project team efforts have been focused on completing the development of the contents of Trainer's manual as well as carried out the development of EU citizens game updating contents of CivicAl web site and facebook page according to the implementation details of project phases.

The flyer is being translated in the different language versions. In the incoming weeks together with the partners will work on the requirements for the CivicAl progress report.

In brief...

 Civic education has gained more and more importance on the agenda of the European Union and its Member States. The great distance between an ever more complex policy at all levels and the citizens leads to dissatisfaction and averting, but also to an increase of populist attitudes and to the rise of parties, which suggest supposedly simple solutions. Studies show that the knowledge, e.g. about the European Union, is alarmingly low. This concerns even more those parts of society whose access to education and information is limited for a variety of reasons, e.g. ethnic minorities, refugees and migrants.

They are the focus of the CivicAL project, which deals with extra-scholar civic education in six EU Member States.
